THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1966

We, the Seniors of 1966, being of our usual sound minds, do hereby make, declare, and publish our last will and testament.

To the members of the junior class we graciously bequeath the following:

Sam Endres wills his ability to speak fluently to Larry Hess.

Maurus Hacker wills his ability to spike a volleyball to Donald Stoffels and his retirement from studies to Sheila Hennigan.

Linda Tempel bequeaths Robert Klement her typing eraser.

Donald Eckart wills his car to Joe Bayer.

Dwayne Pagel gives his ability to collect traffic tickets to Gloria Reiter.

Claude Vogel wills his way with women to Douglas Martin.

Carol Pels presents Andy Klement her ability to drive safely.

Cindy Stoffels wills her ability to catch onto a joke immediately to Jerry Yosten.

Pauline Fleitman bequeaths her red hair to Dianne Gehrig.

Willie Wimmer wills his unclosable mouth to Diann Felderhoff.

Candy Fette gives John Streng her Book of Etiquette.

Monica Becker wills her ability to play volleyball to Gloria Gieb.

Dale Hofbauer bequeaths Diann Felderhoff his red pickup.

Debbie Schilling presents David Hoenig with her Algebra papers.

Marcia Cler wills her evil eyes to Janie Knauf.

Linda Hoedebeck bequeaths Linda Zimmerer her basketball scorebooks.

Sylvia Hofbauer wills her operatic voice to Ted Endres.

Monica Fetsch presents Annette Sicking and Gloria Gieb her ability to stay calm.

Mary Wimmer wills her ability to get along with Father Andrew to Robert Klement.

Damien Moster wills his shyness to Leon Endres.

Dwayne Hess wills Debbie Fette his rabbits.

Judy Danglemayr bequeaths her blush to Tom Yosten.

Evelyn Hess presents her naturally curly hair to Mary Ellen Endres.

Mary Knafe wills Kathy Walterscheid her basketball kneepads.

Patsy Hartman wills Janie Fleitman her quiet study halls.

Steve Kralicke wills his Pontiac to Ruby Schumaker.

Leon Knauf wills his ability to sleep during class to Joyce Klement.

Gloria Haverkamp wills her ability to squeal to Brenda Clee.

Janice Yosten leaves her wild escapades to Mary Kay Luttmer.

Paulette Endres wills one certain tape recording to Janice Yosten's sister, Ruth to use for blackmail.

Rudy Koesler wills his ability to talk to himself in bookkeeping to Cheryl Reiter.

Barb Schmitt leaves her haircut to Linda Zimmerer.

Margin Fuhrman wills her log rhythms to Ray Stewart.

Janice Trubenbach wills her cackle to Sheila Voth.

To the Faculty we leave the following:

To Father Benedict we leave a bottle of hair restorer.

To Father Andrew we will a giant bottle of tranquilizers.

To Sister Roberta we give first prize in art achievement.

To Sister Barbara we leave all our broken lab equipment and burned table tops.

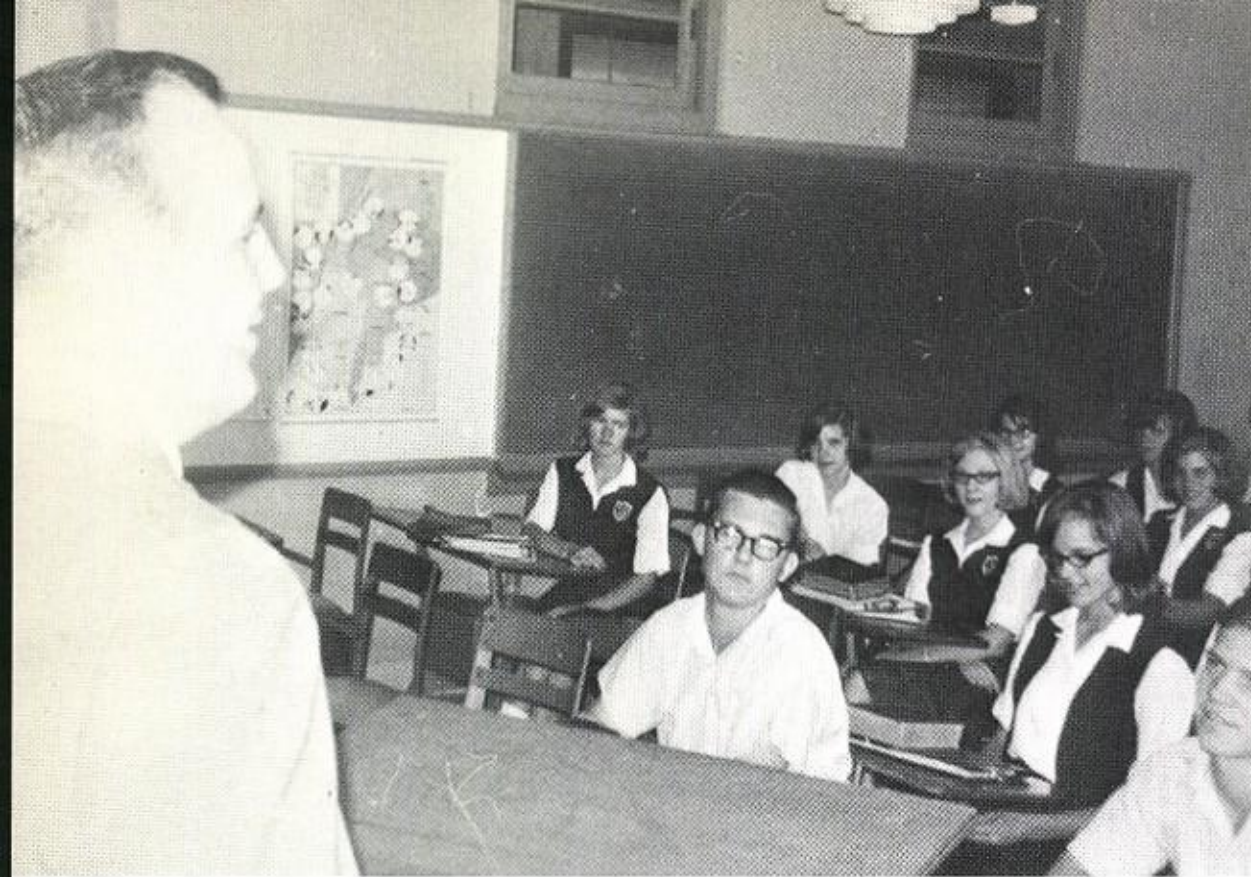

To Mr. Moster we wish a better year than last year.

To Mr. Felderhoff we leave our old bookkeeping and typing workbooks for next year's classes.

CURRICULUM

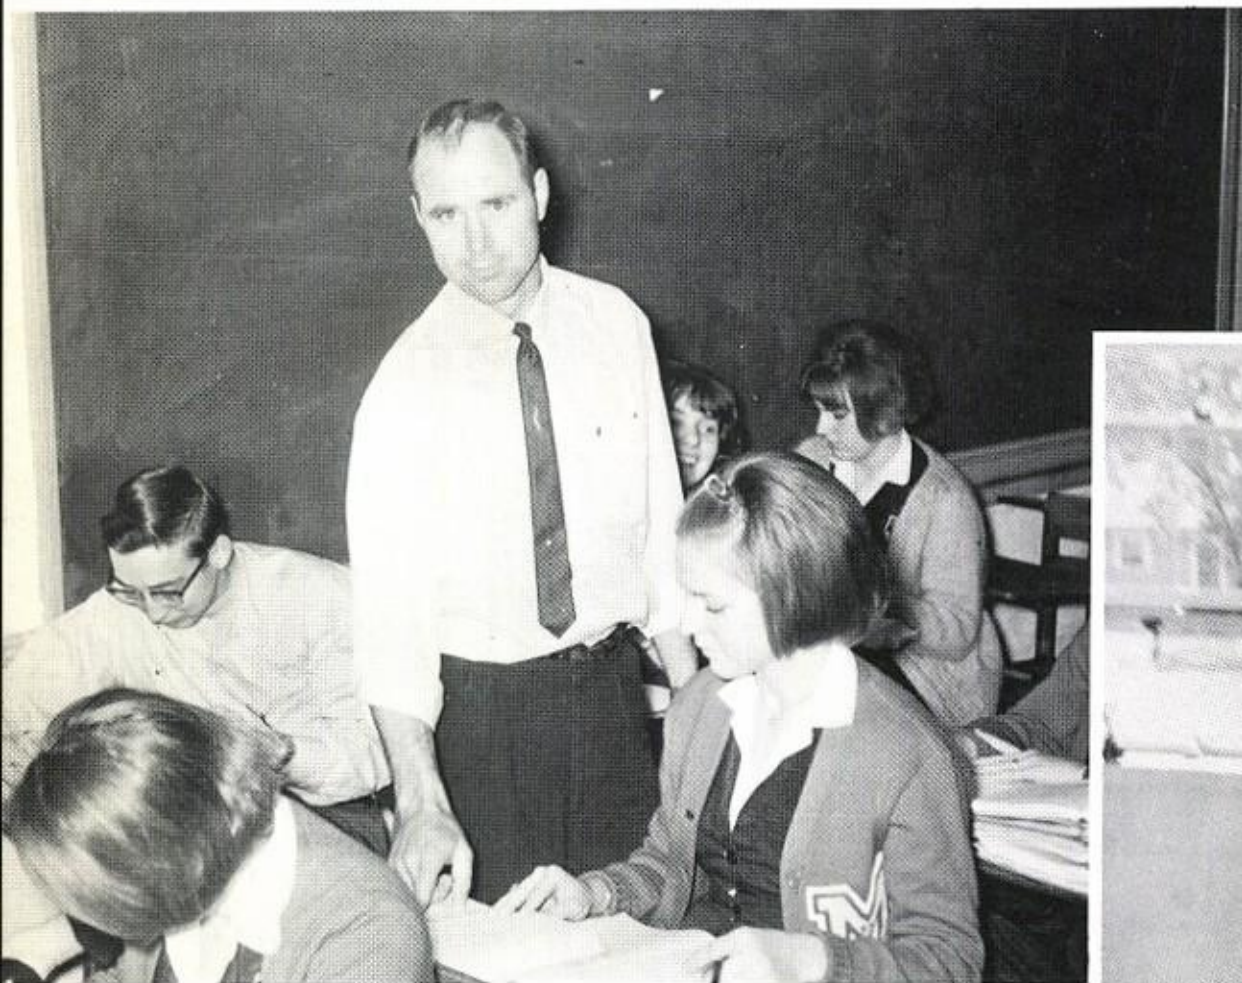

Sister Roberta returns English I themes.

Monica Fetsch, Steve Kralicke, and Linda Zimmerer pose with their certificates they won in the VFW Auxiliary Democracy Contest. Presenting the awards are Auxiliary members, Mrs. Emil Rohmer and Mrs. Arthur Felderhoff and Civics teacher, Mr. James Moster.

Bookkeeping instructor, Mr. Joe Felderhoff, helps Mary Knabe balance her books.

Sophomore girls perform chemistry experiment.

Mr. Joe Felderhoff checks Mary Wimmer's progress at the typewriter.

Geometry students challenge Father Andrew's mathematical mind.

Sister Roberta listens to a student's point of view.

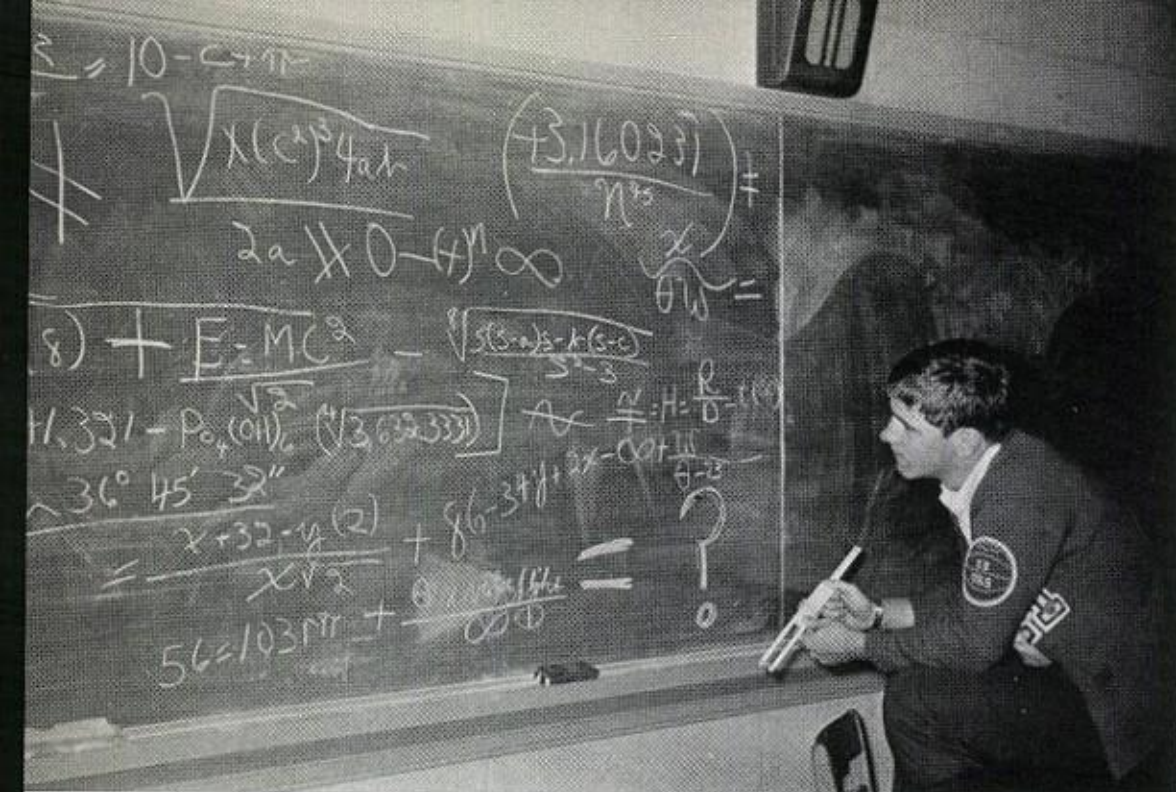

American History students delve into research with the help of Mr. James Moster.

Sister Roberta discusses a work of art with interested guests, Peggy Johnson and Roy Eikner.

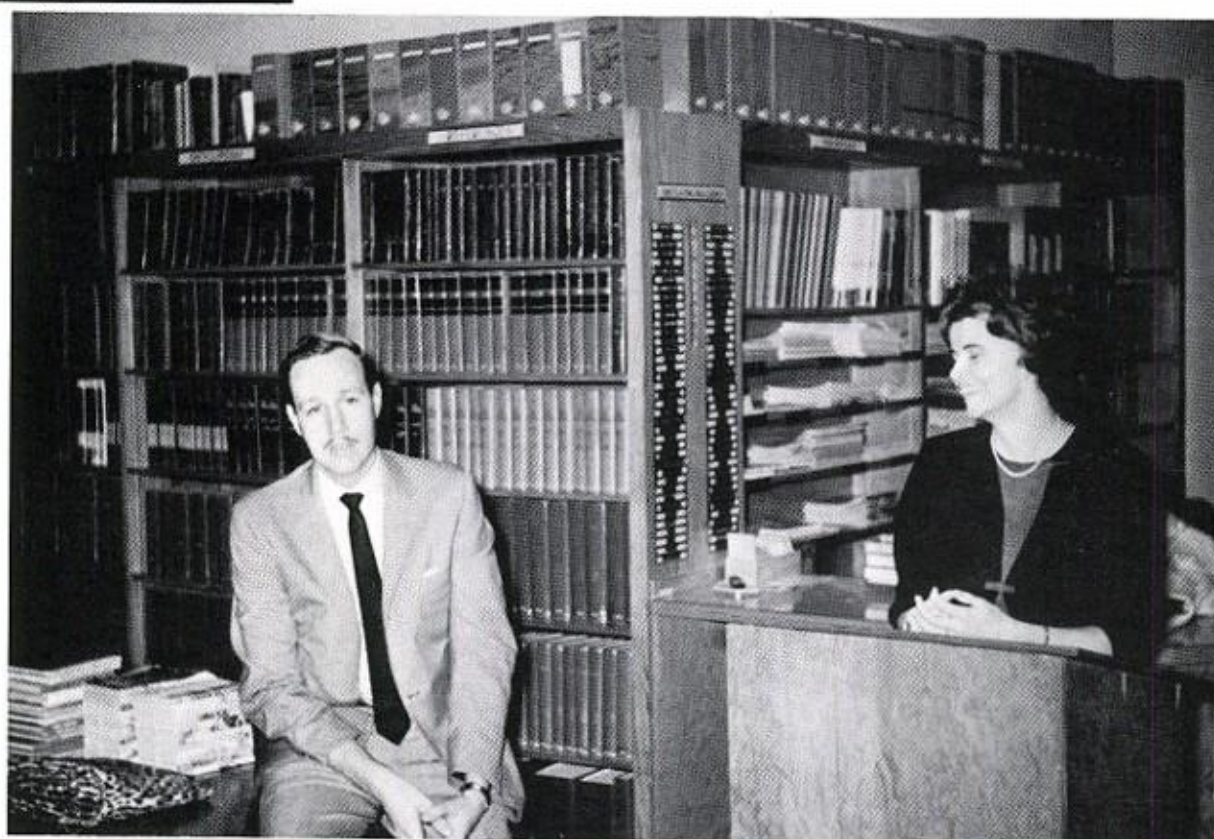

Smiles of success from these chemistry students as another project nears completion.

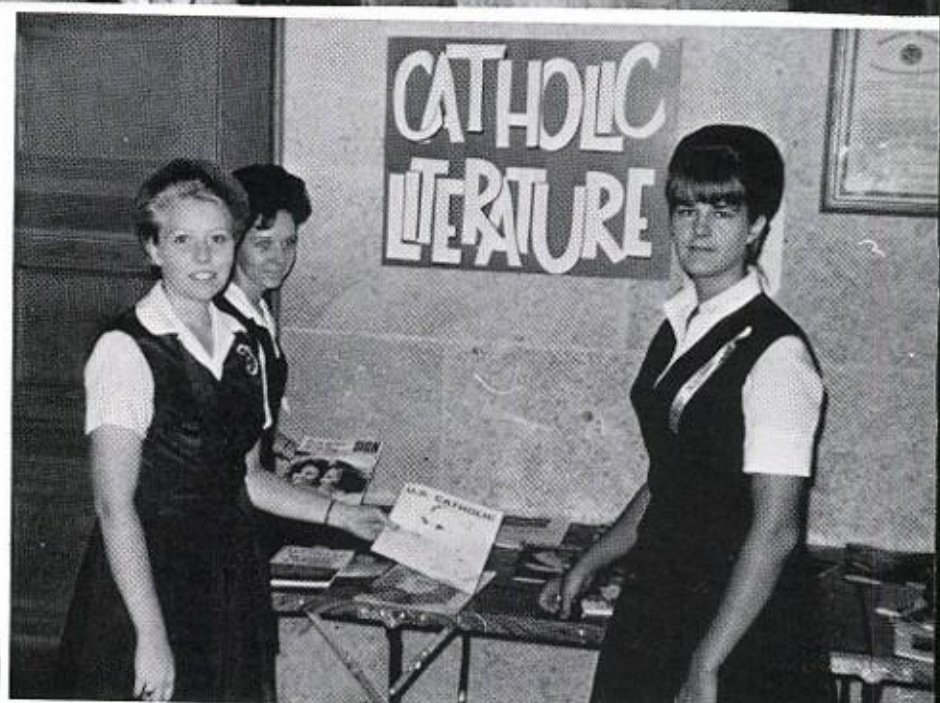

Steve Kralicke ponders Father Andrew's Trig problem.

Sam Endres, Editor, and Dwayne Pagel work with Cordis advisor, Brother Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kinsey, of Dallas lecture seniors on marriage.

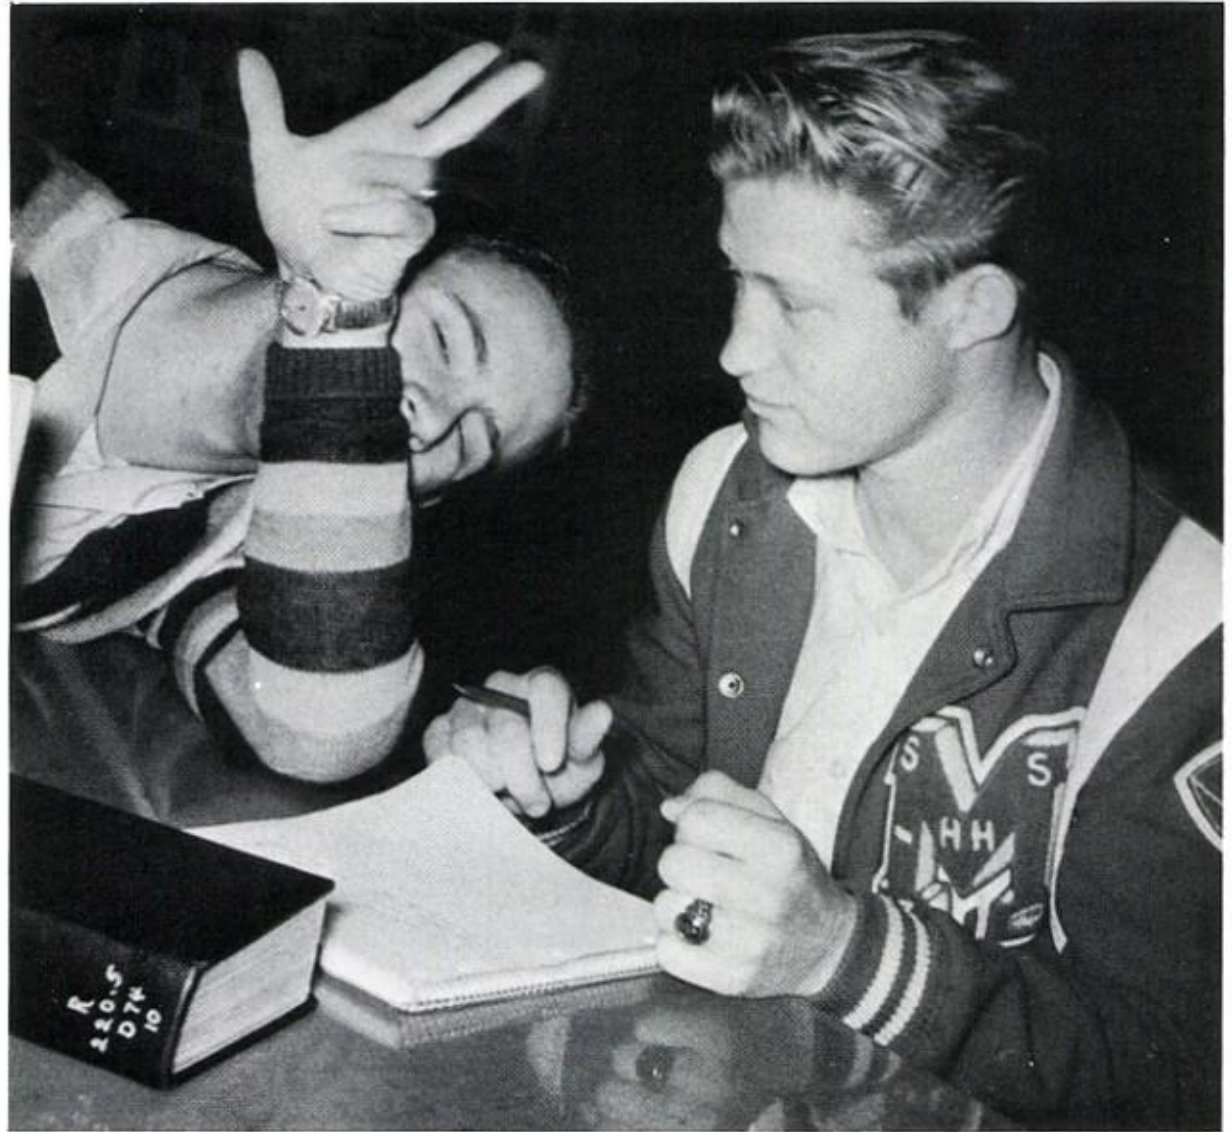

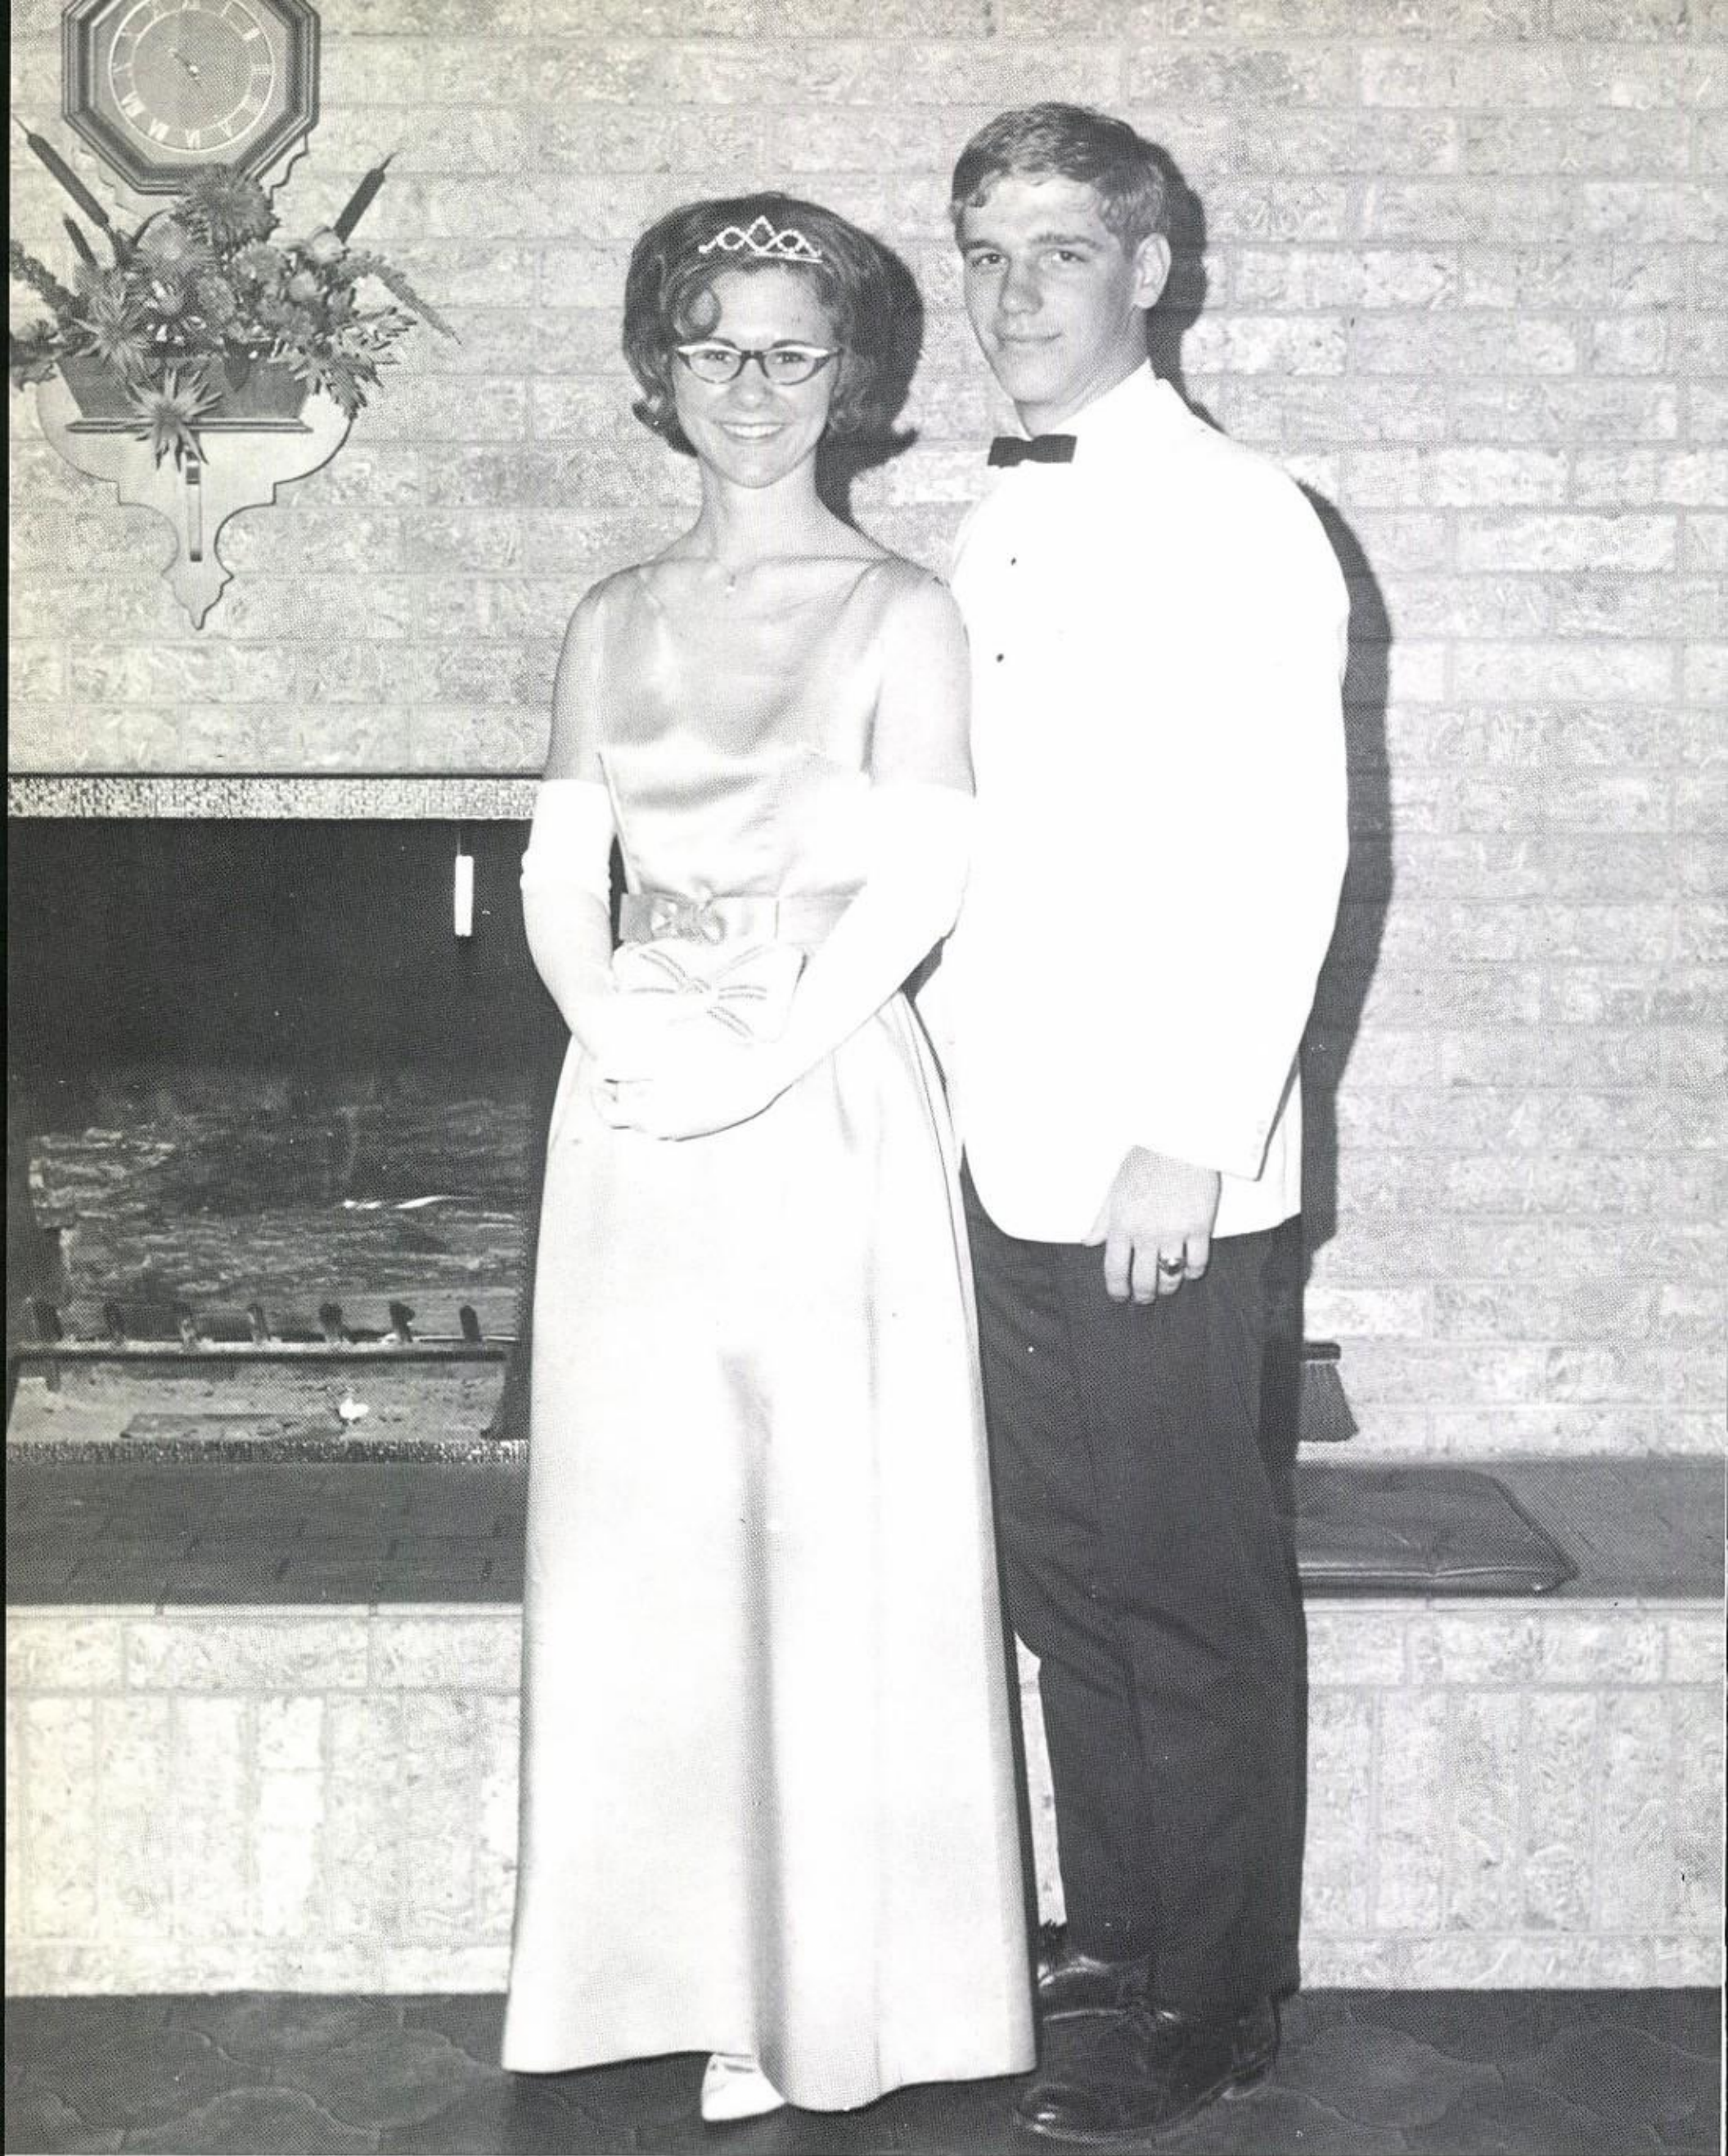

Sylvia Hofbauer, Carol Pels, and Mary Wimmer display Catholic literature in church vestibule.

Mr. Ernest Jaska of TPL, outlines the financial aspects of married life.

Senior Play

Little Moon of Alban

by James Costigan

... "Her young man is killed, and she left standing beside his open grave, and she says, 'I see the trees naked and bare, and the moon shining. Little moon, little moon of Alban, it's lonesome you'll be this night, and tomorrow night, and long nights after, and you pacing the woods beyond Glen Laoi, looking every place for Dierdre and Naisi, the two lovers who slept so sweetly with each other.' And then she presses the knife into her heart and falls herself into the grave."

"Not me! O, stinking death and gore, not me!"

"I am in such trouble. I am the very least of your daughters—"

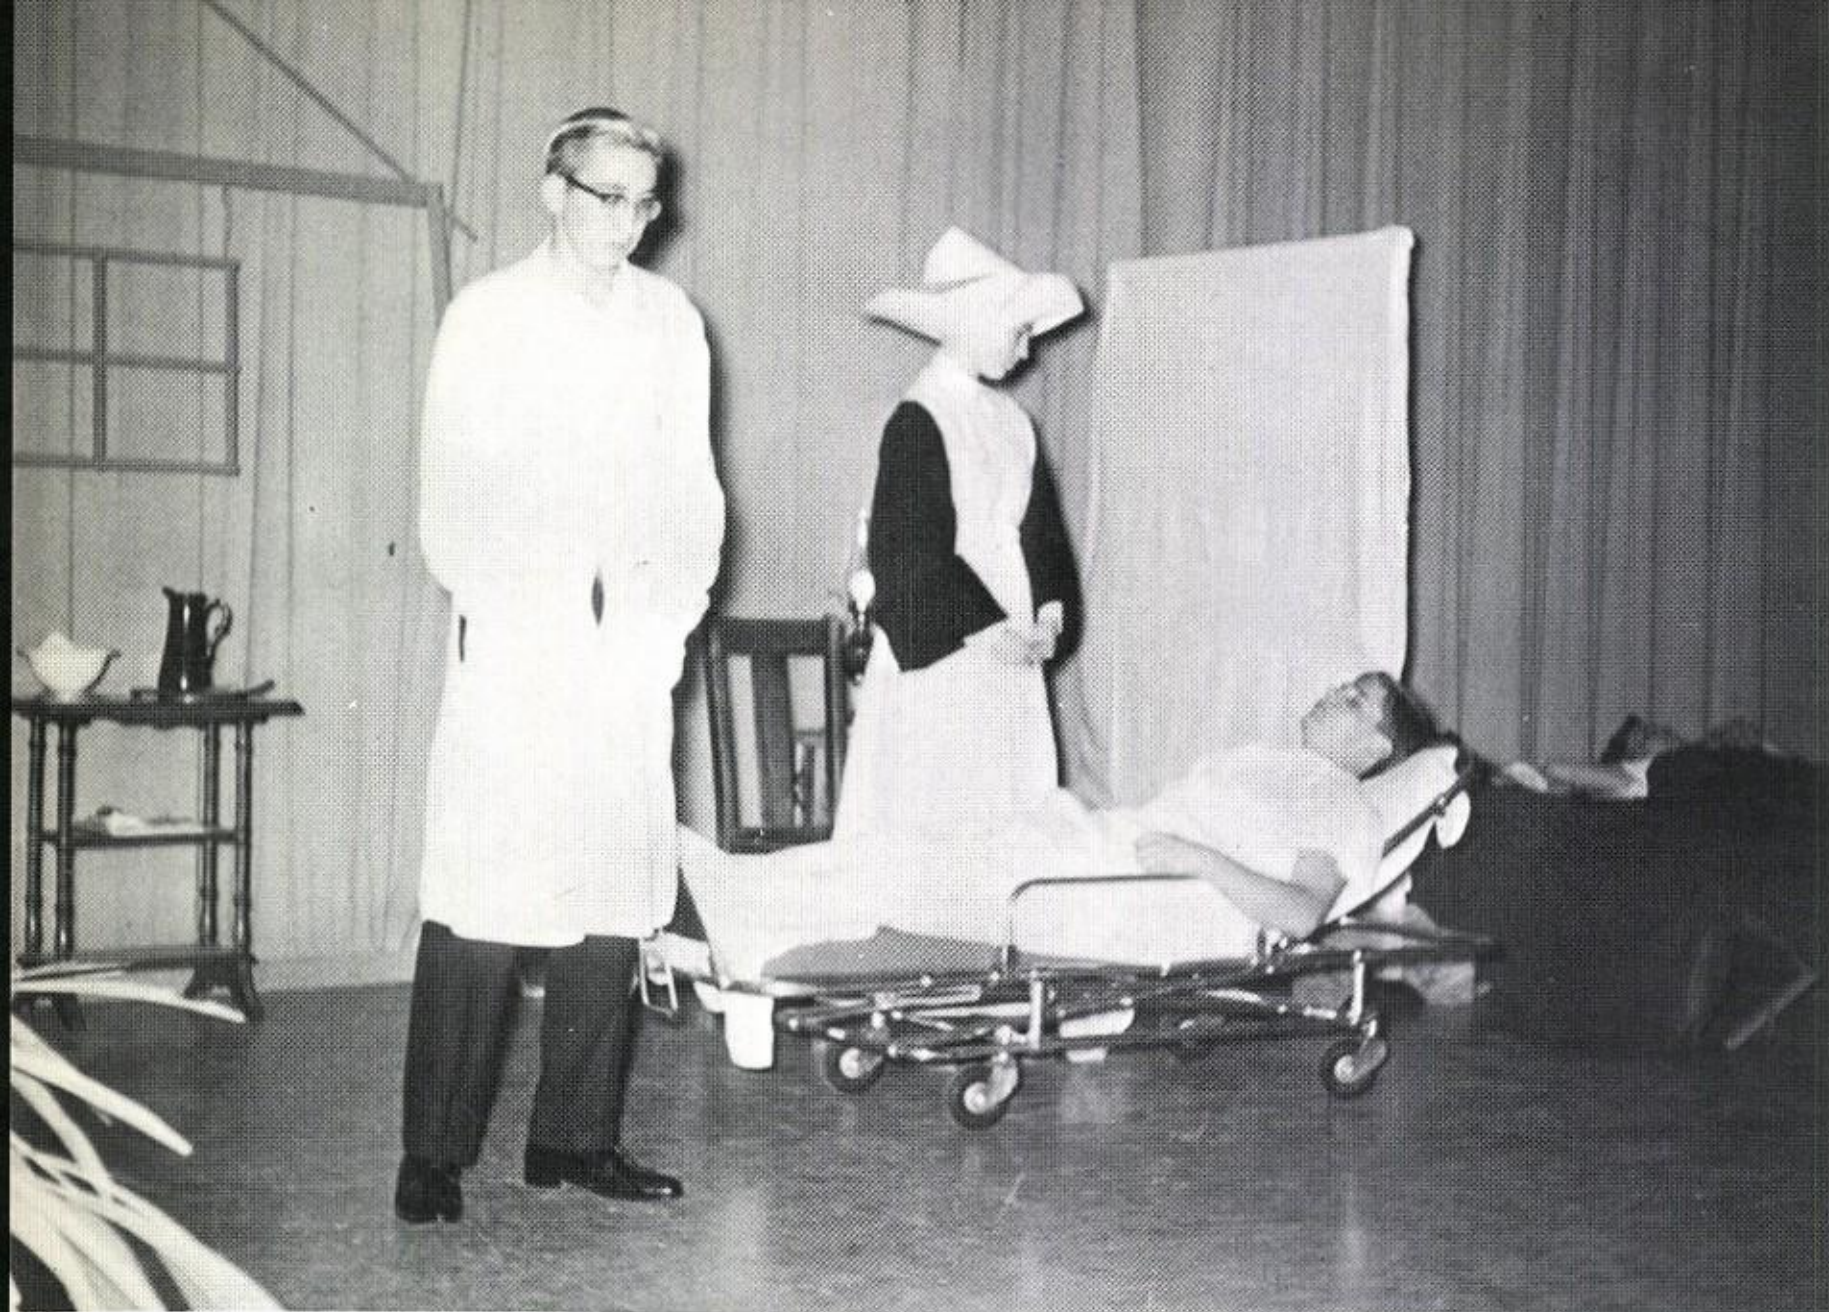

"Help me!"

"Yet they call to me for help."

"Help me!"

"I begged Patch to spare the men who stopped my love, but in my heart I wanted them to suffer."

... "God be praised, I've love in me still! The fire is out, and there's rejoicing in the ashes. I could have killed this one in my heart and never known he was as much a boy to be loved as Dennis was. It wasn't for nothing you bedded him here for me to nurse. I know him now, and more than all I might wish for myself, I want him to live. Maybe I was his victim in that other world, and he mine, but we have only done good to each other in this one. He has Your blessed name in his mouth now, the way I've Your love taken to heart again."

Junior-Senior Banquet and . . .

Prom

"... and baby bear said, 'some one has been eating my porridge, too'."

Senior

"Gosh, it's even bigger than Weinzapfel's lake!"

Trip

"Who said that a Honda was safer?"

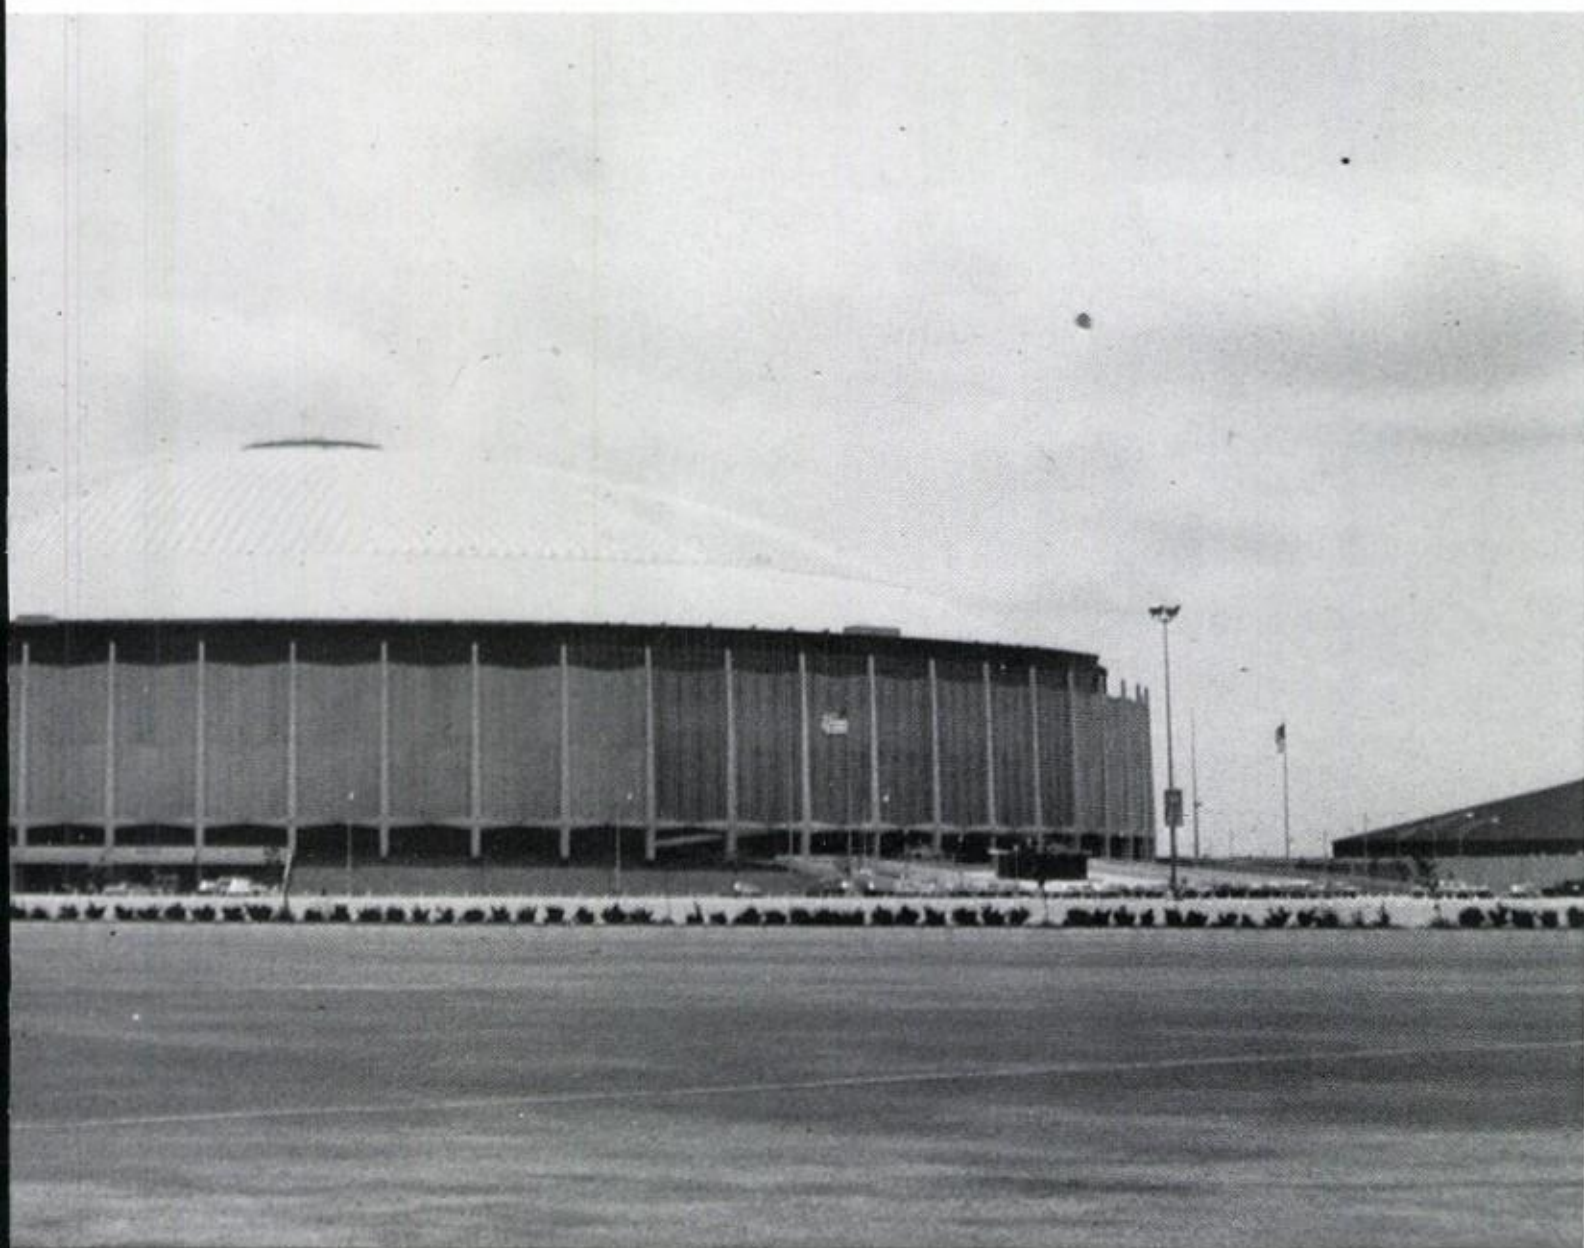

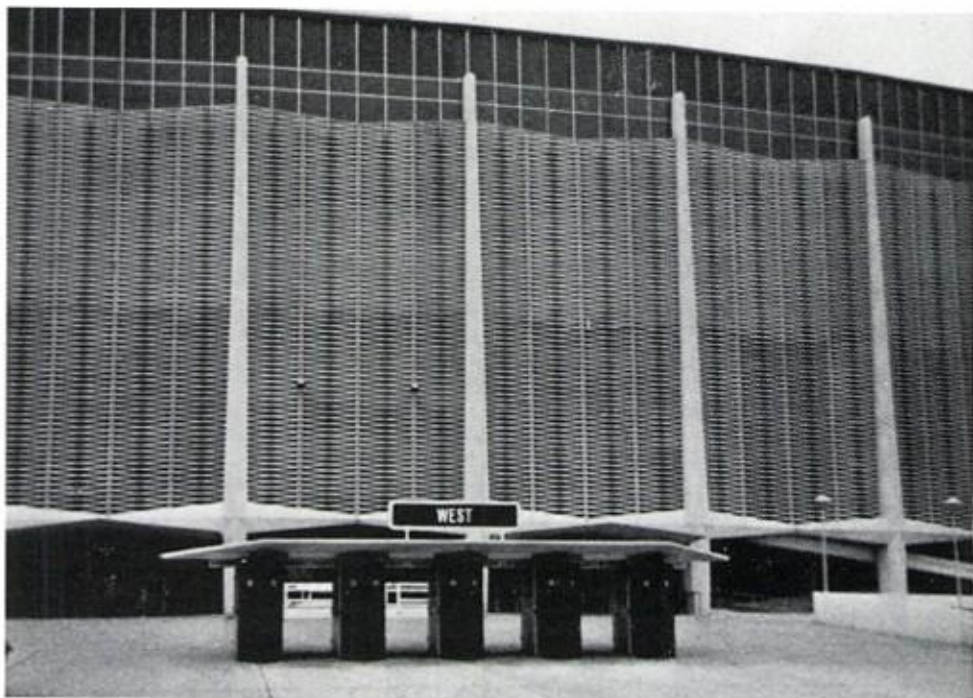

"Do you think it will fit in my suitcase, Rudy?"

"Then what happened to the three bears, Margie?"

The Astrodome

"Hey, Roosevelt, did you say that we could stop at Floyd's?"

"How did you like the Astrodome, Mr. Wolf?"

"Our aim is high, we reach for the sky."
